CARBON BALANCED PAPER

www.carbonbalancedpaper.com

All Antalis' creative paper ranges are carbon balanced as standard via World Land Trust, supporting the protection of biologically diverse ecosystems and restoration projects in Mexico and Uganda. Supporting both REDD++ and carbon removal projects, the land protected provides permanent reduced emissions and protection from deforestation and forest degradation as well as reforestation.

Since its foundation in 1989, World Land Trust have been instrumental in the purchase and protection of more than two million acres of tropical forest and other threatened habitats. Together with their project partners they have ensured that more than four million acres of land, across Africa, Asia, Central and South America and the UK is managed to give permanent protection to habitats and wildlife.

Conqueror

Produced to exacting standards since 1888, Conqueror is recognised as the superior choice for brand identity. The unique touch and appearance have become the international standard for quality and the range is also renowned for its distinctive watermark.

To ensure the varied needs of our customers are met through offering a comprehensive range, Conqueror is available in a choice of finishes and shades. From whites to creams, our offering includes consistent shades across all finishes including Wove, Laid and smooth CX22.

DELOS

Developed to offer different options for the most demanding packaging applications, the Delos range answers both the technical requirements of packaging converters as well as the aesthetic needs of end-users.

Structurally strong – thanks to its higher long-fibre content, Delos is perfectly suited for packaging applications where creasing and double creasing are important. It runs smoothly under all printing and converting processes and ensures good productivity. In addition, it is highly recommended for deep or multi-level embossing, hot-foil stamping and letterpress.

Green Star System™

What is the Antalis Green Star System™?

Antalis has built an environmentally-friendly product offering that is one of the broadest available on the market today, and that adheres to stringent environmental credentials. To help you with your eco-responsible paper and visual communication product search, Antalis has developed the Green Star System™.

What is an eco-responsible paper?

A credible definition of an eco-responsible paper product must incorporate two main elements; the sourcing of raw materials, and the environmental management at the manufacturing site. The definition established by Antalis aims to be simple to understand, easy to trust, stringent in terms of its requirements and based on internationally recognised standards.

Key benefits of the Green Star System™

- A self-explanatory rating system addressed to all audiences
- A definition of what constitutes as eco-responsible
- Two main elements regarding the environmental impact: origin of the fibre and manufacturing process
- Based on internationally recognised standards
- A tool companies can use to communicate their environmental efforts

Green Star System™

* according to the criteria of FSC® or PEFC standards.

 with the remaining percentage fulfilling the requirement of FSC® or PEFC standards.

Consultancy and Samples

Antalis' Paper Specification Consultancy service offers expert guidance to help businesses select the most suitable substrates for their print and packaging projects. With access to one of the widest portfolios of creative papers, our Paper Consultants bring deep technical expertise and market understanding to every consultation. Whether clients are developing high-end packaging or luxury print collateral, the consultancy team helps designers, printers, and brand owners identify materials that align with their performance needs, brand vision, aesthetics and environmental goals.

Antalis also offers a comprehensive free of charge samples and dummy prototype service designed to support clients in evaluating materials before specification. The dummies service enables printers and converters to present realistic mock-ups to clients, facilitating approvals and helping brands visualise how their projects will look and feel. These services underscore Antalis' commitment to customer support, innovation, and the practical application of its wide-ranging product offer.
